

Dear Friends in Christ,

What many of us thought was impossible, now is our day to day reality. Sadly, this truth also applies to our liturgical celebrations. Palm Sunday, Holy Week, Easter Triduum and Easter Sunday liturgies will be celebrated without public attendance. I am certain that this situation will have a tremendous impact on our spiritual life and will leave us “hungry” and longing for more.

Dear Brothers and Sisters, do not lose your hearts, we will try to bring you as close to the altar as possible and as engaged in the celebrations of this sacred time as one can be. For the last few days I’ve been experimenting with different equipment and software (Dcn. Stephen has been phenomenal assisting me with this), to see if we can have live streaming of all the liturgies.

I am pleased to announce that Divine Infant will connect with you live via internet and we will celebrate all the main liturgies of the Holy Week together through live streaming. I am extremely excited about this and just can’t wait to have this project underway. Fr. Anthony, Fr. John and I, we will celebrate all the liturgies together and each day will be presided over by a different priest, and so:

Palm Sunday Mass (April 5 at 10am) – presided by Fr. John

Holy Thursday Mass (April 9 at 7pm) – presided by Fr. Anthony

Good Friday Liturgy (April 10 at 3pm) – presided by Fr. Waldemar

Easter Vigil Mass (April 11 at 8pm) – presided by Fr. Anthony

Easter Sunday Mass (April 12 at 10am) – presided by Fr. Waldemar

More details as to how you can connect via the internet to watch everything we will publish by the end of the week, so stay tuned. Visit our website frequently and look for detailed information. Let’s make this project a great success that will bring us together as a parish family at this most sacred time of our liturgical year.

In Christ,
Fr. Waldemar.
